

When healthcare professionals asked the very simple question 'who have you brought with you today?', this put us at ease straight away.

Many members of our community identify as LGBT+ and may not be in heterosexual, cisgender relationships. They have told us how valuable it is when healthcare professionals have helped them feel comfortable to talk about their sexuality and gender.

When you ask and don't assume,
you can make a real difference.

ovacome..

ovarian cancer